How We Build Globally, From Anywhere

Different locations, one shared mission.

At PriceLabs, our team spans across geographies, but we come together to solve meaningful problems every day - with trust, ownership, and collaboration!

Meet Samvit Acharya 🖐️

Product Specialist - IC1 at PriceLabs

When at work,

they're a customer champion and product detective.

Outside of work,

they're fueled by sports, two-wheel adventures, great movies, and travel.

Currently working on:

Delivering exceptional support while bridging customer feedback with product improvements.

What they love about PriceLabs:

The incredibly friendly and supportive culture makes every day a chance to learn something new.

Fun fact:

The people you work with here don't just stay coworkers; colleagues actually become family!

Team's Story

Here's what our Product Specialists have been up to lately:

Powered by caffeine and curiosity, we make the complex feel effortless for our customers.

We've evolved from support agents to trusted advisors on the entire rental tech ecosystem.

We embrace AI to enhance - not replace - the human touch our customers value.

We provide prompt and accurate support that turns customer frustration into delight.

No two days are alike - we thrive on the fast pace of a global queue without compromising on quality.

If you want a workplace where you are encouraged to go above and beyond, the Product Specialist Graduate Programme is exactly where you want to be. - Samvit

Samvit's Take on PriceLabs

Joining PriceLabs through the Product Specialist Graduate Programme was the absolute best launchpad for my career. It wasn't just a standard training phase; it was a deep dive into our product where I was immediately trusted to take ownership of real customer issues and see them through to resolution.

What stands out to me most is the extremely friendly and supportive culture.

From my early days in the program, I was given the space to research, troubleshoot, and learn a massive amount of new things. The transition from a fresh graduate to a full-fledged Product Specialist felt incredibly natural because of the mentorship here. Today, I get to act as a bridge between our customers and the Data Science and Engineering teams.
